OF 30 CENTS TODAYThis morning the government reg ulations went into effect causing a drop in the retail price of coal all over the country of 30 cents a ton on all sizes. Local coal dealers when interviewed today stated that while the drop in price has gone into effect
that all orders were accepted
subject to price ruling day of deliv ery. This is not enough coal on hand in Kingston at the present time to fill all orders for next winter's sup ply as the dealers are only allowed a certain amount of coal each month.In order to secure next winter's supply of coal all consumers are obliged to put out a card, a copy of which was printed in The Freeman a few days ago. These applications for next winter's coal supply should be filled out as quickly as possible and filed with the dealer.Just how the drop in price of thirty cents a ton will remain in effect is unknown, but as the retail coal dealer of Kingston have never taken advantage of their customers
all coal consumers may rest assured that they will not be over-charged when the coal is delivered.Owing to unsettled conditions due to the war no coal dealer can promise delivery coal at a certain price, which is the reason why all or

when delivered.Name:

VARYING SUCCESS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 1.—Violent fighting continued throughout Sunday after noon and evening in the Angle of the Luce Brook and the Avere river, with varying success. The British war of fice announced today.Field Marshal Haig reported to the war office that the fighting in that sector was expected to continue.The Germans renewed their as saults on the western outskirts of Albert, but were unable to gain any ground.In the Serre sector the British cap tured 109 German machine guns
during Sunday's fighting.The Germans are still halted all along the line."Two attacks were made by the Germans on the western outskirts of Albert but were completely repul sed," the official communication said.South of the Somme river the en emy has persisted in his attacks
along the valley of the Luce and the Avere river, but has made little pro gress.Attacks and counter attacks fol lowed each other in this sector dur ing the afternoon and evening of Sunday, with varying success."It is expected the fighting will continue."In Sunday's operation in the Serre district 109 German machine guns were captured.Luce Brook and the Avere river lie southeast of Amiens and in the dis trict where the British and French armies join. The ground between contains Moreuil, Mezeres and Demuin, all three places having been the scene of savage fighting
during the past few days. The Avere river flows in a northwesterly direc tion, lying about four miles north of Montdidier. Luce Brook is a small marshy stream flowing about twelve miles south of Albert. The district between the two streams constitutes the apex of the German salient.WATCHING FOR
NEW OFFENSIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 1.—With the battle of Picardy entered into its secondary phase, official Washington
today was carefully watching for a new German offensive at Verdun or some nearby point.Washington is firmly convinced that General Foch has wrested the initiative from the Germans at nearly every point in the north. Fighting is expected to continue but the belief in army circles here is that German ef forts to "break through" has been frustrated for this time and that now
he will turn to some other point to strike.Whether the American Anglo French forces will try a sustained counter offensive now is a question greatly in dispute here today. Many military men say that they probably will be content to maintain their present lines for a time inasmuch as none of the terrain annexed by the Germans at a fearful cost in blood, is of strategic value.It would be folly to waste reserves to drive the Germans back here these men argue. But there are other of ficers, among them some of the high est in the general staff, who believe that for the moral effect which it will have in Germany that General Foch can be expected to initiate a complete counter-rolling up move ment against Hindenburg.This would compel the German people, fed up with lies and half truths about the present operations, to realize that the initiative has passed from their armies. It is expected that the next 48 hours will show definitely what the allied plans are.It is expected that the American forces, at least 100,000 strong, as was told in International News Ser vice dispatches last Thursday, will have a prominent part in all future operations. Some of the best trained already have taken their places with French forces at a point on a historic battle ground where the Germans are continually active. Others are being moved to their positions
in the line of the allied reserves who are waiting orders to move from Gen eral Foch.Inasmuch as a great part of the fighting from now on will be of an open character, it is expected that these Americans will prove of great value to the allied forces.All of them have had the advan tage of training for this sort of work
and many of the units are veterans of the Mexican border operations.Lecture at Wilbur.
This evening Attorney A. D. Van Buren will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 1 in the school hall at Wilbur, at 8 o'clock.The lecture is for the purpose of en lightening the women voters as to the duties and responsibilities of citi zenship. The meeting is open to both men and women and it is expected
there will be a large attendance.Van Buren is an able speaker and his address will be of exceptional value to the new voters. The lecture is ab solutely free there being no admis sion charge or collection taken up.About 800 Dogs Licensed.

this season and up to noon today

censed. The police have been busy and have killed about one hundred dogs.Builders to Meet.

the American Mechanics' Hall, Henry

THE BATTLE NEWS

Violent fighting is occurring along a thirty-mile front in France, with the Germans delivering fresh blows against both the British and French.

At no point were the Germans successful and their massed columns were dashed in vain against the solid resistance of the Anglo-French armies.

For the time being the Germans ceased their efforts on the south ern flank of their salient and on the extreme northern end of the line, concentrating all their pressure on that part of their wedge which faces
the British base of Amiens.On the western outskirts of Albert the Teutons made a new effort to dent the British front and two strong assaults were delivered, but both collapsed under the galling fire of the British soldiery.South of the Somme river the Kaiser's field gray horries continued their attacks between the Luce Brook and the Avere river. Fierce fighting developed in this sector, the British following up the direct attacks by counter blows.Despite the determination of the Teutonic thrusts and the reckless ness with which the German officers sacrificed their men, the attackers were unable to make any progress.Further proof of the growing strength of the British counter offensive was seen in the war office announcement that 100 German machine guns were captured in the fighting around Serre, seven miles north of Albert.Apparently the Germans are exerting every ounce of their power now to push the apex of their salient near Amiens. At the present time the most advanced German position is between eleven and twelve miles east of Amiens.North of Montdidier, where French and British troops are fighting side by side, the Germans employed huge numbers of men in an attempt to straighten their line south of Morcuil. The Allied line stood firm and the Germans were thrown back having again suffered appalling losses.Within the past forty-eight hours the situation on the Picardy plain, where this mighty struggle is raging, has improved greatly and the Allies are not only holding up the German advance, but winning back considerable ground.Further improvement is seen in the information that American troops are on their way to the battle zone. Advice received today from Henry G. Wales, the International News Service correspondent with the American army, indicated that the Americans may be in the thick of the gray army.

This was the twelfth day of the German offensive.

SPECIAL THANKS
TO ULSTER COUNTYThe Very Rev. John J. Dunn, Chancellor of the New York Diocese, Gives Credit
to Ulster County for Going Far "Over the Top."

New York, March 29, 1918.

To the Editor of The Freeman:
The General Committee in charge

Ulster county its appreciation of the magnificent response your district

thanks for the zeal of your people,
and of congratulation for their patriotism. The noteworthy partici

many sources in Ulster county to the effect that the splendid co-operation

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 1.—The United States is about to build a super-gun

are using to bombard Paris. It was learned from a high source this af

such a gun immediately. Following reports made to him by ordnance ex

VIOLENT FIGHTING; VARYING SUCCESS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 1.—Violent fighting continued throughout Sunday afternoon and evening in the Angle of the Luce Brook and the Avre river, with varying success, the British war office announced today.

Field Marshal Haig reported to the war office that the fighting in that sector was expected to continue.

The Germans renewed their assaults on the western outskirts of Albert, but were unable to gain any ground.

In the Serre sector the British captured 109 German machine guns during Sunday's fighting.

The Germans are still halted all along the line.

"Two attacks were made by the Germans on the western outskirts of Albert but were completely repulsed," the official communication said.

"South of the Somme river the enemy has persisted in his attacks along the valley of the Luce and the Avre river, but has made little progress."

"Attacks and counter attacks followed each other in this sector during the afternoon and evening of Sunday, with varying success."

"It is expected the fighting will continue."

"In Sunday's operation in the Serre district 109 German machine guns were captured."

Luce Brook and the Avre river lie southeast of Amiens and in the district where the British and French armies join. The ground between contains Morrell, Mezieres and Demigny, all three places having been the scene of savage fighting during the past few days. The Avre river flows in a northwesterly direction, lying about four miles north of Montdidier. Luce Brook is a small marshy stream flowing about twelve miles south of Albert. The district between the two streams constitutes the apex of the German salient.

Further improvement is seen in the information that American troops are on their way to the battle zone. Advice received today from Henry G. Wales, the International News Service correspondent with the American army, indicated that the Americans may be in the thick of the fray very soon.

This was the twelfth day of the German offensive.

WATCHING FOR NEW OFFENSIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 1.—With the battle of Picardy entered into its secondary phase, official Washington today was carefully watching for a new German offensive at Verdun or some nearby point.

Washington is firmly convinced that General Foch has wrested the initiative from the Germans at nearly every point in the north. Fighting is expected to continue but the belief in army circles here is that German effort to "break through" has been frustrated for this time and that now he will turn to some other point to strike.

Whether the American Anglo-French forces will try a sustained counter offensive now is a question greatly in dispute here today. Many military men say that they probably will be content to maintain their present lines for a time inasmuch as none of the terrain annexed by the Germans at a fearful cost in blood, is of strategic value.

It would be folly to waste reserves to drive the Germans back here these men argue. But there are other officers, among them some of the highest in the general staff, who believe that for the moral effect which it will have in Germany that General Foch can be expected to initiate a complete counter-rolling up movement against Hindenburg. This would compel the German people, fed up with lies and half truths about the present operations, to realize that the initiative has passed from their armies. It is expected that the next 48 hours will show definitely what the allied plans are.

It is expected that the American forces, at least 100,000 strong, as was told in International News Service dispatches last Thursday, will have a prominent part in all future operations. Some of the best training already have taken their places with French forces at a point on a historic battle ground where the Germans are continually active. Others are being moved to their positions in the line of the allied reserves who are waiting orders to move from General Foch.

Inasmuch as a great part of the fighting from now on will be of an open character, it is expected that these Americans will prove of great value to the allied forces.

All of them have had the advantage of training for this sort of work and many of the units are veterans of the Mexican border operations.

Lecture at Wilbur.

This evening Attorney A. D. Van Buren will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 1 in the school hall at Wilbur, at 8 o'clock. The lecture is for the purpose of enlightening the women voters as to the duties and responsibilities of citizenship. The meeting is open to both men and women and it is expected there will be a large attendance. Mr. Van Buren is an able speaker and his address will be of exceptional value to the new voters. The lecture is absolutely free there being no admission charge or collection taken up.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

Violent fighting is occurring along a thirty-mile front in France, with the Germans delivering fresh blows against both the British and French.

At no point were the Germans successful and their massed columns were dashed in vain against the solid resistance of the Anglo-French armies.

For the time being the Germans ceased their efforts on the southern flank of their salient and on the extreme northern end of the line, concentrating all their pressure on that part of their wedge which faces the British base of Amiens.

On the western outskirts of Albert the Teutons made a new effort to dent the British front and two strong assaults were delivered, but both collapsed under the galling fire of the British soldiery.

South of the Somme river the Kaiser's field gray horses continued their attacks between the Luce Brook and the Avre river. Fierce fighting developed in this sector, the British following up the direct attacks by counter blows.

Despite the determination of the Teutonic thrusts and the recklessness with which the German officers sacrificed their men, the attackers were unable to make any progress.

Further proof of the growing strength of the British counter offensive was seen in the war office announcement that 109 German machine guns were captured in the fighting around Serre, seven miles north of Albert.

Apparently the Germans are exerting every ounce of their power now to push the apex of their salient near Amiens. At the present time the most advanced German position is between eleven and twelve miles east of Amiens.

North of Montdidier, where French and British troops are fighting side by side, the Germans employed huge numbers of men in an attempt to straighten their line south of Morrell. The Allied line stood firm and the Germans were thrown back having again suffered appalling losses.

Within the past forty-eight hours the situation on the Picardy Plain, where this mighty struggle is raging, has improved greatly and the Allies are not only holding up the German advance, but winning back considerable ground.

Further improvement is seen in the information that American troops are on their way to the battle zone. Advice received today from Henry G. Wales, the International News Service correspondent with the American army, indicated that the Americans may be in the thick of the fray very soon.

This was the twelfth day of the German offensive.

SPECIAL THANKS TO ULSTER COUNTY

The Very Rev. John J. Dunn, Chancellor of the New York Diocese, Gives Credit to Ulster County for Going Far "Over the Top."

New York, March 29, 1918. To the Editor of The Freeman: The General Committee in charge of the Catholic War Fund drive desires through your columns to express to the people of Kingston and Ulster county its appreciation of the magnificent response your district made to our appeal. Kingston and Ulster county were asked to contribute $40,000, or a little less than 50c per capita on the basis of 85,000 population for the county. Instead, Ulster county contributed over $57,000, or 66 cents for every man, woman and child in your borders; while the city of Kingston contributed nearly $1,200 per capita.

The General Committee feels it owes to Ulster a special message of thanks for the zeal of your people, and of congratulation for their patriotism. The noteworthy participation of non-Catholic clergy and laity in the work and in the giving is an outstanding phase that moves the committee specially to voice its very deep appreciation. Sincerely, JOHN J. DUNN, Chancellor, Archdiocese of New York.

In a personal letter to the editor of The Freeman the chancellor says: "The General Committee in charge of the recent Catholic War Fund Campaign has received word from many sources in Ulster county to the effect that the splendid co-operation by the press of Kingston was a factor to quite an unusual degree in the magnificent success attained by this movement in your city and in the whole of Ulster county. We have been told of your contribution of intelligent, conscientious, whole-hearted service in making the publicity effective. On behalf of this committee I desire to express a very deep appreciation of the genuinely helpful spirit that alone made most effective publicity possible."

Of this sum St. Mary's Church contributed $2,504; St. Andrew's Church, $1,000. A more definite statement of the subscriptions will be made later.

The cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham on River street, Wednesday evening, was the closing meeting of the series that have been held during the past three months. All the meetings have been well attended and a spiritual uplift. The meeting was in charge of the pastor, the Rev. W. S. Malnes, of the Reformed Church. Miss Julia Hoornbeck presided at the piano. The review of the quarter Sunday school lessons, also a review of the lessons that were the most impressive to each one as studied, was the subject of the service. The pastor gave a most excellent talk and was followed by several members present. It was altogether a spiritual treat, both the talks, prayers and the bright hymns that were so heartily sung. At the close of the service at 9 o'clock, a surprise was in store for the large number present. Several of the ladies had provided very nice refreshments, coffee, sandwiches and cake, which were served and enjoyed by all with a very pleasant social intercourse. The prayer service next week will be held in the lecture room of the church.

Mrs. Little Bloomer Lyon has gone on a visit with friends in New York and vicinity.

The piano recital, given by Miss Ethel Newcomb at Norbury Hall Thursday evening, a benefit for the Red Cross, was a success. The recital was enjoyed by all attending. The very fine program, of three parts, from the first number, Beethoven Sonata opus 26 No. 12, to the closing number, Chopin Mazurka, Scherzo, received well merited applause. During the recital Miss Newcomb was presented with a large bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Newcomb was the guest of Mrs. Sarre at Yama Farms, Napanoch.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, April 1.—Mrs. Charles C. Beaver went to Port Ewon on Friday for a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Ourneures.

The supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society on Wednesday evening last was a success financially, although the attendance was not quite up to the usual standard. About $20 was realized. The supper room was decorated in red, white and blue, and a number of those present wore "decorations" made of the same patriotic colors.

Mrs. George Van Horn of New York city is visiting in West Esopus. John House has a force of men busily engaged in felling a grove of locust trees a short distance south of this village.

Alexander Smith, George Butler and Marshall Hasbrouck attended an agricultural meeting at Highland on Thursday evening. The subject discussed was the spraying of trees and plants as the best way of destroying the insects which infest nearly every variety of vegetation.

The village school was closed on Thursday afternoon for the Easter vacation, which will last until April 15th.

George Butler, who recently returned from the south, has a beautiful mottled wild cat skin, which he intends having "cured" and made into a muff for Mrs. Butler. The animal was caught in a trap on the tract of land owned by Judge Alton B. Parker at Moore Haven on the southwestern shore of Lake O'Keefechee, Florida. The tract comprises nearly two thousand acres of valuable "black" land well adapted for growing all sorts of fruit and vegetables. Mr. Butler is very enthusiastic over the climate and location and considers the spot an ideal one.

On Friday morning S. E. Mett, with his Ford truck, moved the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Wolf from West Esopus.

HELPFUL HINTS.

In using pineapple juice or gelatin it is well to remember there is a substance in pineapple which upon gelatin, dis-

it, so a little more sugar should be used when placed in the basis of the dish or dessert of kind.

Sugar, salt and spices if added to pumpkin pie day before using will make a much better flavor.

Forced pie than if added when ready to fill. Cookies should be mixed the day before, and doughnuts if mixed and allowed to stiffen where it is cold.

roll and cut much better and make a lighter cake when fried. In summer, place the dough on ice. In winter set out to chill. Pound cake is much better if the flour and butter are rubbed together, then added to the beaten eggs which have had the sugar folded into them. Add the flour mixture a little at a time, not to lose the lightness of the eggs.

Devil's Cake Without Eggs.—Take a cupful of brown sugar, four table-spoonfuls of softened fat, two table-spoonfuls of molasses in the place of two eggs, a half square of chocolate melted in four table-spoonfuls of boiling water, a cupful of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda and a teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with two cupfuls of flour. Add vanilla to flavor.

Use mace for various dishes where nutmeg is usually used.

A table-spoonful of cream to a quart of sherbet, improves all flavors, making a smoother frozen dish.

Keep a roll of toilet paper, the cheaper kind, near at hand where a spot on the floor, or a table or a soiled dish may be quickly wiped and the paper burned saving the use of a cloth.

Spring dusters are handy to use in the kitchen for holding a cloth while straining fat or other things. Fasten them through the cloth to the side of the vessel.

Keep the cellar stairs scrubbed so that skirts will not be soiled in going down stairs. Another safety device is painting the bottom stair white if the cellar is dark, to save falling.

A little oil or tallow rubbed on the cork of the glue bottle will keep it from drying into the bottle.

Painless Dentistry

The difference between painless and painful dentistry depends upon the carefulness and skillfulness of the operator. With good instruments, fresh medicines, local anesthetics and nitrous oxide gas a careful and skillful dentist can perform all operations painlessly, even to the extraction of teeth.

Painless methods, earnest endeavor and reasonable prices have in thirty years, made the Cady Dental Corporation the largest dental organization in New York state.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, April 1.—At a meeting of the committees, who had charge of the K. of G. War Fund drive in Ellenville, $5,200 was reported raised. Of this sum St. Mary's Church contributed $2,500; St. Andrew's Church, $1,000. The K. of G., through the local committee on war activities, of which Judge Cunningham is chairman, are very grateful to the people of the village and vicinity, and wish to thank them for their co-operation in making the campaign a great success. A more definite statement of the subscriptions will be made later.

The cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham on River street, Wednesday evening, was the closing meeting of the series that have been held during the past three months. All the meetings have been well attended and a spiritual uplift. The meeting was in charge of the pastor, the Rev. W. S. Maines, of the Reformed Church. Miss Julia Hoornbeck presided at the piano. The review of the quarter Sunday school lessons, also a review of the lessons that were the most impressive to each one as studied, was the subject of the service. The pastor gave a most excellent talk and was followed by several members present. It was altogether a spiritual treat, both the talks, prayers and the bright hymns that were so heartily sung. At the close of the service at 9 o'clock, a surprise was in store for the large number present. Several of the ladies had provided very nice refreshments, coffee, sandwiches and cake, which were served and enjoyed by all with a very pleasant social intercourse. The prayer service next week will be held in the lecture room of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Durland are spending Easter with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doyle and Master Robert in New York.

George C. Rose has arrived to spend the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Rose on South Main street.

Cards received from Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Webb, noting their safe arrival from their trip south to New York and stopping at Hotel Gerard.

Mrs. Lillie Bloomer Lyon has gone on a visit with friends in New York and vicinity.

The piano recital, given by Miss Ethel Newcomb at Norbury Hall Thursday evening, a benefit for the Red Cross, was a success. The recital was enjoyed by all attending. The very fine program, of three parts, from the first number, Beethoven Sonata opus 26 No. 12, to the closing number, Chopin Mazurka, Scherzo, received well merited applause. During the recital, Miss Newcomb was presented with a large bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Newcomb was the guest of Mrs. Sarre at Yama Farms, Nanaucho.

ESOPUS

Esopus, April 1.—Mrs. Charles C. Beaver went to Port Jervis on Friday for a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Ouchthorpe.

The supper given by the Ladies' Aid Society on Wednesday evening, last, was a success financially, although the attendance was not quite up to the usual standard. About $20 was realized. The supper room was decorated in red, white and blue, and a number of those present wore "decorations" made of the same patriotic colors.

Mrs. George Van Horn of New York city is visiting in West Esopus. John House has a force of men busily engaged in felling a grove of locust trees a short distance south of this village.

Alexander Smith, George Butler and Marshall Hasbrouck attended an agricultural meeting at Highland on Thursday evening. The subject discussed was the spraying of trees and plants as the best way of destroying the insects which infest nearly every variety of vegetation.

The village school was closed on Thursday afternoon for the Easter vacation, which will last until April 15.

George Butler, who recently returned from the south, has a beautiful mottled wild cat skin, which he intends having "cured" and made into a muff for Mrs. Butler. The animal was caught in a trap on the tract of land owned by Judge Alton B. Parker at Moore Haven on the southwestern shore of Lake Okechobee, Florida. The tract comprises nearly two thousand acres of valuable "black" land well adapted for growing all sorts of fruit and vegetables. Mr. Butler is very enthusiastic over the climate and location and considers the spot an ideal one.

On Friday morning S. E. Mett, with his Ford truck, moved the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Wolf from West Esopus.

HELPFUL HINTS.

In using pineapple juice or gelatin it is well to remember there is a subtle pineapple which upon gelatin, disc it, so a little more a be used when plan is the basis of the ding or dessert of kind.

Sugar, salt and sp if added to pumpkin day before using wi make a much better f avored pie than if added when ready to fill. Cookies should be mixed the day before, and doughnuts if mixed and allowed to stiffen where it is cold roll and cut much better and make a lighter cake when fried. In summer, place the dough on ice, in winter set out to chill. Pound cake is much bet ter if the flour and butter are rubbed together, then added to the beaten eggs which have had the sugar folded into them. Add the flour mixture a little at a time, not to lose the lightness of the eggs.

Devil's Cake Without Eggs.—Take a cupful of brown sugar, four table-spoonfuls of softened fat, two table-spoonfuls of molasses in the place of two eggs, a half square of chocolate melted in four table-spoonfuls of boiling water, a cupful of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda and a teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with two cupfuls of flour. Add vanilla to flavor.

Use mace for various dishes where nutmeg is usually used.

A table-spoonful of cream to a quart of sherbet, improves all flavors, making a smoother frozen dish.

Keep a roll of toilet paper, the cheaper kind, near at hand where a spot on the floor, or a table or a soiled dish may be quickly wiped and the paper burned saving the use of a cloth.

Spring clothespins are handy to use in the kitchen for holding a cloth while straining fat or other things. Fasten them through the cloth to the side of the vessel.

Keep the cellar stairs scrubbed so that skirts will not be soiled in going down stairs. Another safety device is painting the bottom stair white if the cellar is dark, to save falling.

A little oil or tallow rubbed on the cork of the wine bottle will keep it from drying into the bottle.

YOU ASK WHAT COTTON IS

Read This:

Cotton on the Battle

A twelve-inch gun shot a half bale of cotton in five minutes.

A machine gun in five minutes will use up a bale in five minutes.

In a naval battle, like off Jutland, from five to six and a half minutes were summed by each active warship.

It takes more than a thousand bales a year to absorb cotton to stain the wounds of the injured.

One change of apparel for the troops now engaged in the war represents more than a million bales.

One hundred thousand will be required to equip the proposed aeroplane fleet if as may be necessary, suit linen for wings.

The U. S. is now turning out a million bales a year in positives alone.

MORE CRITICISM OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Speakers at Saturday Afternoon Session of Meeting of Federation of Agriculture Hand Out More "Bouquets"—Audience Pledges $221.30 for Work of Federation.

The passing of a resolution denouncing "the pernicious political system" employed by the governor in the use of public funds, the passing of several other resolutions of a peppy nature, and criticism of the agricultural department were the outstanding features of the afternoon session of the meeting of the Federation of Agriculture, held at the court house Saturday.

An account of the morning session was published in The Freeman Saturday.

The speakers in the afternoon were John J. Dillon, former commissioner of foods and markets of this state, Samuel Fraser, vice president of the federation of agriculture, and Judge W. S. Ostrander of Saratoga county.

A collection was taken up for the work of the Federation, and the pledges signed, the total amount of the $221.30.

The speeches were along with the lines as in the morning session, but much criticism at the same time. Governor Whitman was the same, Governor Whitman was the same, Governor Whitman was the same.

Mr. Dillon received a ovation that he gave an outline of four minutes, completed at the most interesting, gave some insight of the work he as the high commissioner and oratorical poet of living.

His address was followed by the speaker, who read some of the poems, "Farming the Farmer." It was a tribute to the farmers, and they were always ready, not to do their bit in producing farm products, but also in fighting for the principles of freedom and democracy.

The meeting was well attended, was held in the court room. Every seat was taken and a number of persons were standing in the corridor outside. There were quite a number of women in the audience.

Although some of the speakers spoke of the Federation of Agriculture as a "non-partisan" organization, there was a decided political note sounded at the meeting.

The following were the resolutions passed: Resolved, by a mass meeting of farmers held at Kingston, N. Y., March 30, 1918, that the official board of the New York Federation of Agriculture be requested to prepare a plan at once permitting the organization of local units in each township of the state, and be it Further resolved, that the official board of the Federation invite the Pomona and all subordinate Granges, branch and county leagues of the Farmers' League, Farmers' Clubs, County Farm Bureaus, and any and all other agricultural organizations to become members of the Federation.

(Signed) SETH J. T. BUSH. Resolved, that a meeting of delegates be called within a month for the purpose of selecting permanent officers for the Federation of Agriculture of the State of New York and for the purpose of further consideration of the ways and means of organization, and any other business that may be properly brought before the meeting.

Be it resolved, that the temporary president of the Federation of Agriculture be instructed to appoint at this meeting a committee to outline a program for a permanent organization, including township units, and said committee be ordered to report at Walden, April 6, 1918.

(Signed) NEIL H. STROME. Resolved, that we denounce the pernicious political system now being employed by Governor Whitman of using public funds—given the State Food Commission for the purpose of aiding food production and distribution—to pay his personal political debts and further his personal ambitions.

(Signed) SAMUEL FRASER. Resolved, that we urge all farmers of the state of New York to join hands by uniting with the Federation of Agriculture to present the facts in regard to the dangers confronting the consumers by the placing of incompetent politicians in charge of the production and distribution of food.

Resolved, that we again demand the abolition of the State Food Commission and the establishment of a Board of Agriculture.

Whereas, it is stated that a railroad employee has been appointed labor specialist for Ulster and Greene counties, and as we think that a farm labor specialist should be a man familiar with farm conditions;

Therefore be it resolved that we strongly protest against said appointment and demand of the New York State Food Commission that said appointee should be a man recommended by the farm bureaus of Ulster and Greene counties.

The daylight saving plan was put in operation throughout the United States at two o'clock Sunday morning by advancing the hour hand of official clocks one hour. The sensible features of the plan appeal to everyone. One additional hour of daylight is used and one hour of artificial light is saved. The daily saving to any individual may not amount to much but the aggregate is what counts and proves the value of the plan. There is another feature whose value to the American people cannot be overestimated and that is the opportunity which the plan provides to the indoor worker for additional outdoor exercise. The benefits to health cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, but the health of anyone who works is his or her greatest asset. Increased health gives increased producing power and that is what America needs to win the war. It tends to greater contentment, which in itself is an aid to good health. Our boys in the military and naval service are laying the foundation of long lives by establishing their health on a firm basis. Their brothers and sisters at home while enabled to exert greater energy in the productive line are also given the chance to grow stronger themselves. Nobody knows what conditions in America will be one, two or three years from now. It is the duty of every American to conserve whatever may be useful, foremost among which is health, which will lead to greater producing energy. Nobody in Ulster county will object to the new plan. A person may gain or lose as much sleep as desired, work the same number of hours and continue to regulate business by the clock. The day will contain the same number of hours and everything will continue to be the same except that our working hours will contain one more hour of daylight, our recreation periods one hour, and our sleeping time one hour more of darkness and one hour less of sunlight.

The proposed tree cutting program of the board of public works as outlined in Mayor Canfield's letter in The Freeman on Saturday, is assured of unpopularity from the beginning. It is to be Mayor Canfield's policy and desire that Kingston may prominently become the city of beautiful trees, the policy will not gain any noticeable headway for several years if the other policy is carried out of removing all the trees which have been hacked by the tree expert and in their place planting new trees. He is quite correct in stating that the tree question "has to be considered from the standpoint of twenty years and upwards from now as well as today." Assuming that it will require twenty years for a tree to grow to sufficient shade proportions to make it valuable, the Mayor's tree cutting program takes no account of the intervening years and his foresight jumps from today until twenty years from today. During that period the trees to be planted will be growing, it is true, and year by year a tree expert presumably will go around with a batch of hacking unsound trees which will be removed, but the young trees planted this year will not reach shade proportions of value for at least ten years, so that for a period of twenty years trees will be coming down annually but the new growth will not be sufficiently rapid to provide adequate shade. The judgment of the tree expert employed by the board of public works is questioned by many property owners whose trees have been hacked by him for identification. "If the property owner will submit any proper evidence to the board tending to show that the tree expert of the board is in error, the board will carefully consider it." That is encouraging, at least, but if the evidence does tend to show that the tree expert is in error this year, a number of owners believe that his sufficiently deep to cause deterioration rapidly by, and depleted. There is nothing yet to dictate that the German drive has been checked for this season, but the contrary there is every reason to believe that it will be renewed, soon as forces can be reconstituted. There will be a counter drive in English, French and American which cannot be decisive because there are not sufficient men, according to the statements of the war office of the Allies themselves. The idea that battles are fought and the war determined in the same manner as a nomination contest in a political convention—by counting noses, either broken or sound—is the prevailing idea which is responsible for official inactivity and lack of civilian support of war measures. Just where the politician gets his ideas of military science is hard to determine. He has been accustomed to advancing his own interests by a system of intrigue carried on discreetly under cover. The idea does not occur to such a man that wars are determined by strength of the belligerents as displayed in combat. The average politician is too ignorant of history to understand what war means and too short-sighted to see any necessity of finding out. To the politician, war is simply a means of placing contracts or getting jobs for some friend, or kicking at some other politician who landed the contract or the job ahead of him. It would be interesting to discover what politics or politicians have done thus far toward helping win the war.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"I believe in every man's standing on his own feet." She—"I wish you would carry that belief into your dancing."—Baltimore American.

"What became of that tenderfoot who said he didn't know how to play poker?" asked Broncho Bob. "Lynched," replied Pete Pete. "For lynching?" "No. For lying."

The Assistant—"I have here a poem from a man serving a five years' term in the penitentiary." The Editor—"Print it with a foot-note explaining the circumstances. It may serve as a warning to other poets."—Puck.

"That girl next door to you still abuses the piano?" "No; she's got a cornet now." "Gracious! That must be worse, isn't it?" "Not at all. It's only half as bad. She can't sing while playing the cornet."—Boston Transcript.

Visitor in Court Room—"What is this lawsuit about?" Stranger—"The creditors of George Bomp, bankrupt, are suing his trustee in bankruptcy." Visitor in Court Room—"Are you interested in the case?" Stranger—"Not in the slightest."—Chicago Daily.

"Henry, suppose we call on the new people who have moved in next door?" "Oh, I don't care about meeting them." "But when their furniture was being carried in I noticed an unusually large and handsome fellow." "About? Well, we might drop in for a few minutes, anyway."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

What "It" Was Worth.
Mrs. Jenks had a passion for the old and curious. One day when rummaging about in a bric-a-brac shop she noticed a quaint figure, the head and shoulder of which appeared above the counter.

"What is that Japanese idol there worth?" she asked.
The salesman replied in a subdued tone:

"About half a million. That is the proprietor."—New York Times.

A Drawback

"To be happy," said the Curate, "a man should decide on one thing; he would like to do well and then perfect himself until he can do it better than anybody else."

"Another story-book virtue my dear Doctor," said the Old Member, "that doesn't work out. There is Jerry, for example, the loneliest man in the club."

"And what about Jerry?"
"He plays such a good game of billiards that nobody will play with him."—Judge.

Putting Her in Training.

The adored daughter was said, "Father," she said, "what has come over you?" Since I can remember, I never had a wish you were not anxious to gratify, now you even anticipated my wants and handed me money for all sorts of things that I hadn't even thought of. But now I have to ask for every cent I need, and you growl and grunt and ask if I think you are made of money, and you rail at a woman's extravagance and invariably ask me what on earth I did with that last check or dollar or half dollar you gave me. It is very strange. Don't you love me any more father?"
"My dear Ethel," her father answered, "I love you as much as ever. But you are soon to be married, and I am trying gradually to prepare you for the change."—Exchange.

MEN URGE ON-BRUSH BILL

April 1, 1918.
G. W. 5,200
The On-Brush bill, designed to have a place upon the statute books reported on this week by the joint committee on internal affairs of the legislature, will shortly come up for consideration in the senate and assembly.

The bill is urged by the New York State Association of Highway Builders, which has been fighting for its legislation for the last three years. The bill carries no prayer money, and the period of the war will not be full appropriation. During the war the war its purpose was to fill but when the activities of the bill are resumed it will improve the roads for all traffic and a place for the horse. By the terms of the bill all roads hereafter improved by the state must contain a six foot stone side drive for horses, and now improved are to be so equipped when resurfaced. The side drive will be formed by an extension of the shoulder, which means adding only three to four feet to its present width. The additional cost is insignificant on roads under construction and the shoulder extension can easily be made on the majority of roads already built when they are resurfaced.

Experience has proven that horses, even when sharp shod, cannot stand on the slippery surfaced macadam when the top dressing hardens in cold weather. All improved roads are injurious to the horse by reason of their hard surface. It is admitted that most state roads are too narrow for the growing traffic, especially with present extensive use of wide-bodied motor trucks. Horsemen estimate that the saving in wear from the sharp caulk worn by horses will meet any additional expense.

The judgment of the tree expert employed by the board of public works is questioned by many property owners whose trees have been hacked by him for identification. "If the property owner will submit any proper evidence to the board tending to show that the tree expert of the board is in error, the board will carefully consider it." That is encouraging at least, but if the evidence tends to show that the tree expert is in error this year, a number of owners believe that the tree expert will deteriorate rapidly by another year.

Wood has the American people, from France and America must raise Ulster soldiers, serious view than at any time. The fact been at the only been depleted. There is nothing yet to dictate that the German drive has been checked for this season, but the contrary there is every reason to believe that it will be renewed soon as forces can be reconstituted. There will be a counter drive in English, French and American which cannot be decisive because there are not sufficient men according to the statements of the war office of the Allies themselves. The idea that battles are fought and the war determined in the same manner as a nomination contest in a political convention—by counting noses, either broken or sound—is the prevailing idea which is responsible for official inactivity and lack of civilian support of war measures. Just where the politician gets his ideas of military science is hard to determine. He has been accustomed to advancing his own interests by a system of intrigue carried on discreetly under cover. The idea does not occur to such a man that wars are determined by strength of the belligerents as displayed in combat. The average politician is too ignorant of history to understand what war means and too short-sighted to see any necessity of finding out. To the politician, war is simply a means of placing contracts or getting jobs for some friend, or kicking at some other politician who landed the contract or the job ahead of him. It would be interesting to discover what politics or politicians have done thus far toward helping win the war.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"I believe in every man standing on his own feet." She—"I wish you would carry that belief into your dancing."—Baltimore American.

"What became of that tenderfoot who said he didn't know how to play poker?" asked Broncho Bob. "Lynched," replied Plute Pete. "For winning?" "No. For lying."—

The Assistant—"I have here a poem from a man serving a five years' term in the penitentiary." The Editor—"Print it with a foot-note explaining the circumstances. It may serve as a warning to other poets."—Puck.

"That girl next door to you still abuses the piano?" "No; she's got a cornet now." "Gracious! That must be worse, isn't it?" "Not at all. It's only half as bad. She can't sing while playing the cornet."—Boston Transcript.

"Henry, suppose we call on the new people who have moved in next door." "Oh, I don't care about meeting them." "But when their furniture was being carried in I noticed an unusually large and handsome cellaret." "Ahem! Well, we might drop in for a few minutes, anyway."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

What "It" Was Worth. Mrs. Jenks had a passion for the old and curious. One day when rummaging about in a bric-a-brac shop she noticed a quaint figure, the head and shoulders of which appeared above the counter. "What is that Japanese idol there worth?" she asked. The salesman replied in a subdued tone: "About half a million. That is the proprietor."—New York Times.

A Drawback. "To be happy," said the Curate, "a man should decide on one thing he would like to do well, and then perfect himself until he can do it better than anybody else." "Another story-book virtue my dear Doctor," said the Old Member, "that doesn't work out. There is Irvy, for example, the loneliest man in the club." "And what about Irvy?" "He plays such a good game of billiards that nobody will play with him."—Judge.

Putting Her in Training. The adored daughter was sad. "Father," she said, "what has come over you? Since I can remember, I never had a wish you were not anxious to gratify and you even anticipated my wants and handed me money for all sorts of things that I hadn't even thought of. But now I have to ask for every cent I need. I think you are made of money, and you rail at a woman's extravagance and invariably ask me what on earth I did with that last check or dollar or half dollar you gave me. It is very strange. Don't you love me any more father?" "My dear Ethel," her father answered, "I love you as much as ever. But you are soon to be married, and I am trying gradually to prepare you for the change."—Exchange.

MEN URGE ON-BRUSH BILL

The 200-ton Brush bill, designed to place a place upon the roads for all traffic and place the horse. By the terms of the bill, all roads hereafter improved by the state must contain a six foot drive stone side drive for horses, and roads now improved are to be so equipped when resurfaced. The side drive will be formed by an extension of the shoulder, which means adding only three to four feet to its present width. The additional cost is insignificant on roads under construction and the shoulder extension can easily be made on the majority of roads already built when they are resurfaced.

Experience has proven that horses, even when sharp shod, cannot stand on the slippery surfaced macadam when the top dressing hardens in cold weather. All improved roads are injurious to the horse by reason of their hard surface. It is admitted that most state roads are too narrow for the growing traffic, especially with present extensive use of wide-bodied motor trucks. Horsemen estimate that the saving in wear from the sharp canks worn by horses will meet any additional expense.

SAUGERTIES MAN WEEKLY REVIEW IS DROWNED OF WAR CONDITIONS

Saugerties, April 1.—The sudden disappearance on Friday evening of J. M. Smith, the well known truck man of Saugerties was solved Sunday evening after the departure of the steamer Ida from her landing for New York city, when Edward McNally with a grappling line brought the body to the surface. Parties had been dragging the creek in that locality Saturday and Sunday. Lasher and Burhans, undertakers, took charge of the remains.

Washington, April 1.—Anticipating that the French and American forces now being rushed to the Pi-cardy front will check the German advance there, the war department in its weekly review of the war today, expresses the belief that the theatre of operations soon will be shifted to other areas.

The American forces have been placed unreservedly at the disposal of the French and while certain units are being hastened to the actual battle lines, others are replacing veteran French troops thereby relieving them for the battle line.

The review points out that in spite of successes gained, the large German over-run and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, Field Marshal Haig has been able to maintain his basic order of battle and has withdrawn his troops in such a manner as to prevent the enemy from forcing a decision. This has been done in spite of the fact that the German high command has staked its fortunes on the success of the spring campaign. The weekly review also confirms the report sent recently to the International News Service by its Tokio correspondent, that Irkutsk, in Siberia, has fallen into German hands and now is held by 20,000 of the enemy.

The review follows: The period under review has naturally been one of anxiety for the Allies. Under the pressure exerted by the enemy who has put into action picked shock units, long and carefully trained in mobile warfare for the particular tasks they were to undertake, the British have been compelled to give ground.

Field Marshal Haig, in the face of grave difficulties has been able to maintain his basic order of battle at the same time withdrawing his troops to more secure positions.

In spite of the successes gained, the large area of terrain overrun and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, the enemy has been unable to force a decision.

Though the Allies have been compelled to retire and the enemy has occupied some points of primary strategic importance, as long as the Allied armies are able to maneuver with the consistent unity and flexibility which they have shown during the engagements of the past week, so long will victory elude the enemy.

However, as the German high command has staked its fortunes on the success of the spring campaign of 1918, and is apparently determined to force a decision or prove to its own satisfaction that it is unable to do so, we must be prepared in case of its failure to obtain major results in the present theatre of operations, that he will attempt further offensive assaults in adjacent areas.

Look at a tactical standpoint, the most important event of this week has been French participation in the battle. French reserves have been hurried to the scene of action and are engaged along the southern flank of the new salient which the enemy has pushed out, stretching from Barisla Montfort.

French fighting continues in the Montfort area where a successful French counter offensive is already outlined in the vicinity of Lasigny.

North of the Somme the British are holding the enemy on the line running from Pethy through Boelles-Buquoy, Beaumont-Hamel, Albert to Saint-Ver.

To the south of the river, the Germans are still forcing ahead. The thrust towards Amiens is being carried through with great vigor along the line Hamel-Medieres.

Strong offensive assaults have also been directed against the point of junction of the Franco-British forces in the hope of being able to strike a decisive blow here and roll back either the French or British.

Our own forces have been placed unreservedly at the disposal of the Allies and our divisions will be used where needed. Our troops are taking their places in other parts of the line and relieving veteran French units for emergency service.

Such of our troops as have received a sufficient amount of training will co-operate with the larger and more experienced units, will assume share in the great burden now so valiantly borne by the French and British armies.

Other sectors of the western front not within the immediate radius of the battle zone have been relatively quiet. Artillery activity was general and the points in which our forces are engaged, heavy shelling took place.

The bombardment of Paris by a long range gun firing approximately 75 miles is noted.

From Italy information reaches us that fresh Austrian divisions are arriving along the Italian front, coming from Romania, and important troop movements are taking place in Val Sugana.

Renewed activities along the eastern front is reported and the Austrians were able to conduct a successful operation in the Frenetia Valley.

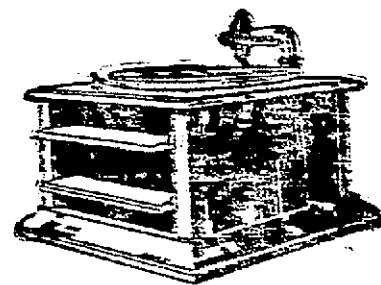

The snow is melting rapidly in the mountain areas and with the return of good weather it is possible that the enemy may attempt a serious offensive in this theatre.

In the eastern theatre the Germans are continuing their advance in the Ukraine. A number of engagements are reported in which Austrian forces were important.

In Siberia the important center, Irkutsk has fallen into the hands of the enemy and a British detachment believed to number approximately 20,000 is in full possession of the town.

In the Balkan theatre activity is again noted. The enemy have been unsuccessful in their attempt to move their business office from their place on Ferry street, to the Old River Hotel, corner Ferry street and Eastbrook avenue. They moved in today. The new office is much larger and better lighted which is the reason for moving it.

CAMOUFLAGE ON ALL FOOL'S DAY

Young Woman Sent After "Inside Out" Envelopes—"Cheer" Candy Was Battered With Red Pepper—Man Picks up "Easy Money"—Young Girl Receives "Pragmatic" Flowers.

Heads up, and watch your step! It's All Fool's Day, and as usual on this day, there is much camouflage. It's no day to maintain dignity, for if you haven't already lost your "goat" you will before the day is over.

To some persons this April first means rent day and the last day for filing income tax statements, but to many other persons it means far worse things which appear and disappear with magic rapidity. "Cheer" candy that explodes when about half smoked; brick lined hats and other camouflage features that always characterize April first.

Don't yield to the temptation to "cuss." Remember that those persons possessing a superabundance of dignity are advised to take for their motto today "Don't."

Even "Big Ben" caught the spirit of the day and fooled those persons by an hour who forgot about that extra hour of day light.

The usual stunts were put across today. One young woman in an up-town law office was sent to the store to buy some "inside out" envelopes. The boss explained that these envelopes opened at both ends. The young woman tried several stores and all reported that they were all out of the "inside out" envelopes.

A young woman gave a young man employed in a cigar store on Wall street some candy. It was real good, the young man thought, but as he ate the third piece he sneezed with a vigor that attracted much attention and amusement. The candy was "battered."

A youngster laid down what looked to be a well filled pocketbook on Fair street this morning. A number of persons passed it, stilling in a knowing way and making no attempt to "pick it up." Another man came along, glanced at the pocketbook, and whisked the "easy money" in his pocket. The youngster, who was standing in a doorway, hollered: "Go, you thief, this is April 1st."

PISTOL DAY IN POLICE COURT

Two Boys Arrested for Carrying Concealed Weapons—One 17 Year Old Boy Got Drunk and Fired Off Gun.

Today was pistol day in police court when two boys were arraigned before Judge Schirick charged with carrying revolvers without a permit. The charge lodged against each boy was disorderly conduct, and would have been much graver if they had been older. One boy was arrested shortly after midnight Sunday morning by Special Officer Charles Messinger, who found the boy drunk and firing off his gun in the air. The boy had discharged his revolver three times when arrested. Fortunately for the boy the gun was loaded with blanks. This morning he pleaded guilty and confessed that he was drunk.

He has a brother in the army and is said to be the only boy at home to care for his mother. He works in the factory. It was due to the fact that any fine imposed would have to be paid by the mother that the court placed the boy on probation without fining him. The boy was warned to keep steady hours and keep out of bad company.

The other boy was also arrested on Sunday near the Delaware avenue playground by Special Officer Whitaker. The boy had in his possession a revolver loaded with bullets. He was fined $5, which was paid by a friend.

BAHL'S BARN WAS BURNED TO GROUND

Late Saturday Evening Fire on Murray Street—Grass Fire. Keep Firemen Busy Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday evening at 11 o'clock fire destroyed the barn of Meyer Bahl on Murray street. The blaze illuminated the sky for a considerable distance and the fire drew a large crowd. An alarm was rung in from Box No. 44, corner Murray street and Eastbrook avenue. The barn and its contents were destroyed. A horse was rescued with some difficulty. Mr. Bahl stated that neither the barn nor its contents were covered by insurance.

Saturday afternoon a grass fire in Whitworth cemetery called out the fire department. Later a dump fire in the rear of Poyth & Davis garage called out the department. A third grass fire occurred Sunday on West Chestnut street. There was a grass fire on Ferry street Sunday afternoon.

TESTING VALIDITY OF DRY PETITION

A hearing is being held this afternoon at Hudson before Supreme Court Justice Hasbrouck, in the order, granted March 28, by Justice Hasbrouck to Frank W. Brooks, to show cause why certain names should not be stricken from the petition for a local option election to be held in Kingston April 16, and the petition be declared null and void because of certain alleged defects. The petitioners are represented by Alfred Van Buren; Mr. Brooks is taking care of the interests of those against the petition. A number of witnesses were taken up by both factions.

James Terrell 61 years old, was arrested by the sheriff's office Sunday on a charge of public intoxication. This morning in police court he was fined $5 or five days in jail. He took the jail sentence as he had no money.

Particularly Valuable to Mothers with Small Children. Local Druggists Are Offering 50c Jars on 30 Days' Trial.

Colds are simply inflammations of the air passages and can be cured by the only way to reach the air passages directly is by means of vapors that can be inhaled. The old-fashioned vapor treatment, however, was cumbersome and costly, but a North Carolina druggist solved this problem by inventing a device that is reported by the body heat.

This preparation, known as Vick's VapoRub is now being introduced here. The local druggists know the danger of constant "coughing," especially to small children and are anxious that all their customers should try this new "outside" treatment. Arrangements have accordingly been made with the manufacturers to sell the small size jars, price 50c, on 30 days' trial—no charge to be made if the customer is not satisfied with the results.

For deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, or incipient pneumonia VapoRub should be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors arising carry the medication with each breath to the air passages and lungs to relieve the inflammation. VapoRub is absorbed through the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

For head colds, hay fever, earache or sinusitis troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved with steam, and VapoRub is a most effective remedy for croup. It is a most effective remedy for croup.

SAUGERTIES MAN IS DROWNED

Saugerties, April 1.—The sudden disappearance on Friday evening of J. Myer Smith, the well known truck man of Saugerties, was solved Sunday evening after the departure of the steamer Ida from her landing for New York city, when Edward McNally with a grappling line brought the body to the surface. Parties had been dragging the creek in that locality Saturday and Sunday. Lasher and Burhans, undertakers, took charge of the remains.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF WAR CONDITIONS

Washington, April 1.—Anticipating that the French and American forces now being rushed to the T-cardy front will check the German advance there, the war department
in its weekly review of the war today, expresses the belief that the theatre of operations soon will be shifted to other areas.

The American forces have been placed unreservedly at the disposal
of the French and while certain units
are being hastened to the actual battle lines, others are replacing veteran French troops thereby relieving them for the battle lines.

The review points out that in spite of successes gained, the large armies on either side and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, Field Marshal Haig has been able to maintain his basic order of battle and has withdrawn his troops in such a manner as to prevent the enemy from forcing a decision. This has been done in spite of the fact that the German high command has staked its fortunes on
the success of the spring campaign.

The weekly review also confirms the report sent recently to the International News Service by its Tokyo correspondent, that Irkutsk, in Siberia, has fallen into German hands and now is held by 20,000 of the enemy.

The review follows:
The period under review has naturally been one of anxiety for the Allies. Under the pressure exerted by the enemy who has put into action picked shock units, long and carefully trained in mobile warfare
for the particular tasks they were to undertake, the British have been compelled to give ground.

Field Marshal Haig, in the face of grave difficulties has been able to maintain his basic order of battle
at the same time withdrawing his troops to more secure positions.

In spite of the successes gained,
the large area of terrain overrun
and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, the enemy has been unable to force a decision.

Though the Allies have been compelled to retire and the enemy has occupied some points of primary strategic importance, as long as the Allied armies are able to maneuver
with the consistent unity and flexibility which they have shown during
the engagements of the past week,
so long will victory elude the enemy.

However, as the German higher
command has staked its fortunes on
the success of the spring campaign
of 1918, and is apparently determined to force a decision or prove its own satisfaction that it is unable to do so, we must be prepared in case of his failure to obtain major results in the present theatre of operations, that he will attempt further offensive assaults in adjacent areas.

From a tactical standpoint, the most important event of this week has been French participation in the battle. French reserves have been hurried to the scene of action and are arrayed along the southern flank
of the new salient which the enemy has pushed out, stretching from Barisis to Montdidier.

Fierce fighting continues in the Montdidier area where a successful
French counter offensive is already outlined in the vicinity of Launsigny.

North of the Somme the British are holding the enemy on the line running from Fouchy through Boylettes, Buecy, Beaumont-Hamel,
Albert to Sailly le Sec.

To the south of the river, the Germans are still forging ahead. The thrust towards Amiens is being carried through with great vigor along the line Hamel-Merles.

Strong offensive assaults have also been directed against the point of junction of the Franco-British forces in the vicinity of Arras, a decisive battle being able to strike
either the French or British.

Our own resources have been
placed unreservedly at the disposal of the Allies and our divisions will be used when needed. Our troops are taking their places in other parts of the line thus relieving veteran
French units for emergency service.

Such of our troops as have received a sufficient amount of training will co-operate with the latter and insofar as they are able, will assume share of the great burden now
so valiantly borne by the French and British armies.

Other sectors of the western front
not within the immediate radius of the battle zone have been relatively quiescent. Artillery activity was general and to points in which our forces are engaged, heavy shelling took place.

The bombardment of Paris by a long range gun firing approximately 75 miles is noted.

From Italy information reaches us that fresh Austrian divisions are arriving along the Italian front, coming from Romania, and important troop movements are taking place in Val Sugana.

Renewed activities along the entire front is recorded and the Austrians were able to conduct a successful operation in the Frenzels Valley.

The snow is melting rapidly in the mountain areas and with the return of good weather it is possible that the enemy may attempt a serious
offensive in the theatre.

In the eastern theatre the Germans are continuing their advance in the Ukraine. A number of engagements are reported in which Austrian forces were driven back.

In Siberia the important strategic center, Irkutsk, has fallen into the hands of the enemy and a small detachment believed to number approximately 20,000 is in full possession of the town.

In the Balkan theatre, activity is again noted. The enemy have two unsuccessful raids against the Allied position between Lake Prespa
and Ochrida. Also, German troops are active in bombing hostile communications in the Struma and Vardary.

The principal event in the eastern theatre is the capture of the city of Irkutsk, in Siberia, by the German forces. The city, which is one of the most important in the region, has been captured by the German forces, and the Russian army has been driven back. The capture of Irkutsk is a serious blow to the Russian position in Siberia, and it is expected that the German forces will continue their advance in the region.

CAMOUFLAGE ON ALL FOOL'S DAY

Young Woman Sent After "Inside
Out" Envelopes—"Choice" Candy
Was Doctored With Red Pepper—
Man Picks up "Easy Money"—
Young Girl Receives "Fragrant" Flowers.

Heads up, and watch your step!
It's All Fool's Day, and as usual on this day, there is much camouflage.
It's no day to maintain dignity, for
if you haven't already lost your "coat" you will before the day is over.

To some persons this April first means rent day and the last day for filing income tax statements, but to many other persons it means fun
with magic rapidly, "choice" cigars
that explode when about half smoked;
bric-a-brac hats and other camouflage features that always characterize April first.

Don't yield to the temptation to "guess." Remember that those persons possessing a superabundance of dignity are advised to take for their motto today "Don't."

Even "Big Ben" caught the spirit of the day and fooled those persons
by an hour who forgot about that extra hour of day light.

The usual stunts were put across today. One young woman in an uptown law office was sent to the store
to buy some "inside out" envelopes.
The boss explained that these envelopes opened at both ends. The young woman tried several stores and all reported that they were all out of the "inside out" envelopes.

A young woman gave a young man employed in a cigar store on Wall street some candy. It was real good,
the young man thought, but as he ate
the third piece he sneezed with a violence that attracted much attention and amusement. The candy was "doctored."

A youngster laid down what looked to be a well filled pocketbook on Fair street this morning. A number of persons passed it, smiling in a knowing way and making no attempt at the "easy money." Another man came along, glanced at the pocketbook, and whisked the "easy money"
in his pocket. The youngster, who was standing in a doorway, hollered,
"Got you that time, boss; this is April 1."

Another young woman received a beautiful bouquet this morning, and when she "whiffed" the fragrance of the flowers she suddenly developed a violent sneezing and coughing spell.
She accepted the joke in good grace
and passed it on to her friends.

With a few exceptions, the victims of the camouflage of All Fool's Day accepted the "jokers" offerings in a good natured way.

PISTOL DAY IN
POLICE COURT

Two Boys Arrested for Carrying Concealed Weapons—One 17 Year Old Boy Got Drunk and Fired Off Gun.

Today was pistol day in police court when two boys were arraigned before Judge Schrick charged with carrying revolvers without a permit.
The charge lodged against each boy was disorderly conduct and would have been much graver if they had been older. One boy was arrested shortly after midnight Sunday morning by Special Officer Charles Messinger, who found the boy drunk and firing of his gun in the air. The boy had discharged his revolver three times when arrested. Fortunately for the boy the gun was loaded with blanks. This morning he pleaded guilty and confessed that he was drunk.

He has a brother in the army and is said to be the only boy at home to care for his mother. He works in the factory. It was due to the fact that any fine imposed would have to be paid by the mother that the court placed the boy on probation without fining him. The boy was warned to keep steady hours and keep out of bad company.

The other boy was also arrested on Sunday near the Delaware avenue
playground by Special Officer Whitaker. The boy had in his possession a revolver loaded with bullets. He was fined $5, which was paid by a friend.

BAHL'S BARN WAS BURNED TO GROUND

Late Saturday Evening Fire on Murray Street—Grass Fires Keep Firemen Busy Saturday and Sun-

Saturday evening at 11 o'clock
fire destroyed the barn of Meyer Bahl on Murray street. The blaze illuminated the sky for a considerable distance and the fire drew a large crowd. An alarm was rung in from Box No. 44, corner Murray street and Hasbrouck avenue. The barn and its contents were destroyed. A horse was rescued with some difficulty. Mr. Bahl stated that neither the barn nor its contents were covered by insurance.

Saturday afternoon a grass fire in Wiltwrick cemetery called out the fire department. Later a dump fire in the rear of Forsyth & Davis garage called out the department. A third grass fire occurred Sunday on West Chestnut street. There was also a grass fire on Parrelly street
Saturday afternoon.

OLD TIES ARE BEING USED, SAYS M'ADOO

Fuel Administration Working in Conjunction With Railway Representatives For Utilizing Old Ties as Fuel.

The following letters from Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier to Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, and a reply from C. R. Gray, Director of the Division of Transportation, are self-explanatory:

Kingston, N. Y., March 25, 1918.
Hon. W. G. McAdoo,
Secretary of the Treasury,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Sir:

The government is urging the conservation of fuel.

Let me suggest that if you would instruct the officials of the railroads under your control to distribute the ties which they are burning and wasting continually, it would be a great benefit to the people of the country.

This is only a suggestion, but I hope you will take the matter up with those under your control.

Respectfully,
WM. D. BRINNIER.

United States Railroad Administration.

W. G. McAdoo, Director General.

March 28, 1918.

Mr. William D. Brinnier, Corporation Counsel.

Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the director general of railroads, I desire to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 25th suggesting that the ties taken from the tracks be used as fuel.

Some time ago advice was issued to the interested railroads that, to the fullest extent possible, this action be taken, and the representatives of the fuel administration are working in conjunction with the railway representatives for utilizing to the fullest possible extent old ties as fuel.

Yours very truly,
C. R. GRAY.

Last winter the Freeman called attention to the opportunity which the railroads had to relieve the fuel shortage by furnishing old ties to the public, and inquiry developed the fact that the West Shore railroad had issued orders which permitted old ties to be used by employees and others who would haul them away without interfering with railroad traffic, but that on account of the shortage of cars and general freight congestion it was impossible for the roads to haul old ties from any distance to Kingston for distribution.

Easter Services Well Attended.

The Easter services at the Spring Street German Lutheran Church were largely attended. The church was artistically and beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and palms, and a large number of communicants participated in the Lord's supper at the morning and evening services. At the morning service the following children who had been confirmed received their first communion: Robert P. Brandt, Harry W. Gille, William M. Brandt, Harry J. Nagle, Friedrich P. Paus, Katherine F. Kraus, Josephine A. Thiel, Alvena A. Salladin, Elsie E. Fuchsle. At the English sermon in the evening the following adults who had been confirmed on Palm Sunday received their first communion: Albert E. Smith, William L. Ellsworth, Florence R. Melbert and Mary Agnes Marks. At the communion Good Friday and Easter three hundred and eighty-five participated.

JUST FORGET CLOCK IS AN HOUR FAST

New Daylight Saving Law Went Into Effect Easter Sunday and Worked Smoothly, Although Some People Were "Somewhat Muddled."

The new daylight saving law went into effect Easter Sunday morning and while some folk were "somewhat muddled" still it worked smoothly and today folks had become more accustomed to it. The fact that some people became somewhat muddled was due to the fact that they could not just forget the clock was an hour fast.

Many residents of Kingston, however, in mind the injunction in Saturday's Freeman and before retiring for the night Saturday made sure to set all their time pieces an hour fast. In this way when they awoke Sunday morning they simply glanced at the clock and when they saw it registered the time for the usual getting up they just got up and that was all there was to it.

All of the church services were well attended even if they started an hour earlier than usual although the clock read the usual church time of 10:30 in the Protestant churches in the city. The Catholic churches, with the exception of St. Joseph's whose services was at the new time, observed services at the old time but hereafter all services will be held at the new time.

All over the country the new law went into effect with remarkable smoothness.

By just forgetting that the clock is an hour fast residents will not become confused but will adjust their affairs to conform with the new time which governs the running of all railroad trains, ferries, street cars, and everything else that adds to the comfort of the human race.

DRY DAY ON APRIL 16

Hotel bars, saloons, drinking places within one-quarter of a mile of any voting place. In communities where local option elections are to be held on April 16 next, must remain closed during the hours of such elections.

A ruling to this effect, which sets at rest all speculation upon this question, has been made by Herbert S. Sisson, state commissioner of excise. The ruling is based upon subdivision "c" of section 30 of the liquor tax law. This section provides that on any day of a general or special election, or any election or town meeting, within one-quarter of a mile of any voting place, where liquor may not be sold or given away.

The courts have held that it applies to a village election where the only question submitted to the voters was one of the appropriation of money.

The polls will be open in the thirty-nine cities where local option elections are to be held April 16, from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m. All places where liquor is sold which are located one-quarter of a mile from places where votes are to be cast must, in consequence, be closed during those hours. Commissioner Sisson holds.

Local option elections are to be held in the following cities: Amsterdam, Auburn, Batavia, Beacon, Binghamton, Canandaigua, Corning, Cortland, Elmira, Fulton, Geneva, Glens Falls, Gloversville, Hornell, Ithaca, Jamestown, Johnstown, Kingston, Little Falls, Lockport, Middletown, Mount Vernon, Newburgh, New Rochelle, North Tonawanda, Norwich, Ogdensburg, Olean, Oneida, Oswego, Rome, Plattsburgh, Port Jervis, Rome, Salamanca, Schenectady, Syracuse, Tonawanda, Watertown.

VALTHOL MAKES FOLKS WONDER

Never Made Artificial Limbs And Woman With Him Goes to New York With Her Husband.

Who is Edward Valthol, who does not make artificial limbs at Tillson, although he said that was what he was going to do, and what has he really been doing there? This is one of the questions that Rosendale people are asking, and they would also like to know why, if Valthol is French, as he asserted he was, he registered as an enemy alien? The mystery as to Valthol's companion, "Mrs. Valthol," was solved on Easter Sunday when her husband, whose name is Myers, came up from New York and took her home.

In December, 1916, a man and woman who said they were Edward Valthol and wife and wanted to buy a place in the country on which they proposed to manufacture artificial limbs, appeared in Rosendale. They bought the Ira Freer property, opposite the Rosendale Plains cemetery, and settled down, but they never made any artificial limbs. The woman made frequent trips to New York city, explaining that she went to visit a sick relative. On her return she always seemed to have plenty of money.

On December 1, 1917, a payment of $1,200 was due on the property, which had been bought for $300 cash and further payments of $1,200 and $800. The Valthols did not make the payment and a few days ago a constable dispossessed them. Mrs. Valthol was questioned by a local official and at first said her true name was Gordon and she had kept a boarding house on the East Side in New York city. Later she admitted that her name was Myers, but asserted that her husband was dead. The matter was communicated to the New York police who ascertained that Myers was living in New York and that he had been sending his wife money on the supposition that she had bought a farm and was paying for it on installments. On Easter Sunday Myers appeared at Tillson, where he found his wife alone in the house. Valthol is a seer, but Mrs. Myers convinced her husband that Valthol was nothing more to her than a business partner and Mr. and Mrs. Myers went back to New York.

Valthol is still in Tillson. He claimed to be a Frenchman, but registered as an alien enemy.

Suez Canal Facts.

The Suez canal, planned and constructed by a French engineer and French capital, is owned and operated by a French company in which the British government holds a controlling interest, obtained in 1875 by buying the large block of stock previously owned by Egypt, for $20,000,000. Vessels of all nations, whether armed or not, warships as well as merchant ships, are allowed to pass through the canal in peace or war at a uniform rate of toll according to size or tonnage of the vessel. The fare is 6 francs and 25 centimes for vessels of a unit of tonnage. The regulations governing the Panama canal and the rates of toll are practically the same.

OLD TIES ARE BEING USED, SAYS M'ADOO

Fuel Administration Working in Conjunction With Railway Representatives For Utilizing Old Ties as Fuel.

The following letters from Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier to Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, and a reply from C. R. Gray, director of the Division of Transportation, are self-explanatory:

Kingston, N. Y., March 25, 1918.
Hon. W. G. McAdoo,
Secretary of the Treasury,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Sir:

The government is urging the conservation of fuel.

Let me suggest that if you would instruct the officials of the railroads under your control to distribute the ties which they are burning and wasting continually, it would be a great benefit to the people of the country.

This is only a suggestion, but I hope you will take the matter up with those under your control.

Respectfully,
WM. D. BRINNIER,
United States Railroad Administration.

W. G. McAdoo, Director General.
March 28, 1918.

Mr. William D. Brinnier, Corporation Counsel,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the director general of railroads, I desire to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 25th suggesting that the ties taken from the tracks be used as fuel.

Some time ago advice was issued to the interested railroads that, to the fullest extent possible, this action be taken, and the representatives of the fuel administration are working in conjunction with the railway representatives for utilizing to the fullest possible extent old ties as fuel.

Yours very truly,
C. R. GRAY.

Last winter the Freeman called attention to the opportunity which the railroads had to relieve the fuel shortage by furnishing old ties to the public, and inquiry developed the fact that the West Shore railroad had issued orders which permitted old ties to be used by employees and others who would haul them away without interfering with railroad traffic, but that on account of the shortage of cars and general freight congestion it was impossible for the roads to haul old ties from any distance to Kingston for distribution.

Easter Services Well Attended.

The Easter services at the Spring Street German Lutheran Church were largely attended. The church was artistically and beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and palms, and a large number of communicants participated in the Lord's supper at the morning and evening services. At the morning service the following children who had been confirmed received their first communion: Arthur F. Menzel, Carl W. Gille, William M. Brandt, Harry J. Nagle, Friedrich P. Paums, Katherine F. Kraus, Josephine A. Thiel, Alvina A. Salladin, Elsie E. Fuehsle. At the English service in the evening the following adults who had been confirmed on Palm Sunday received their first communion: Albert E. Smith, William L. Ellsworth, Florence R. Melbert and Mary Agnes Marks. At the communion Good Friday and Easter three hundred and eighty-five participated.

JUST FORGET CLOCK IS AN HOUR FAST

New Daylight Saving Law Went Into Effect Easter Sunday and Worked Smoothly, Although Some People Were "Somewhat Muddled."

The new daylight saving law went into effect Easter Sunday morning, and while some folks were "somewhat muddled" still it worked smoothly and today folks had become more accustomed to it. The fact that some people became somewhat muddled was due to the fact that they could not just forget the clock was an hour fast.

Many residents of Kingston bore in mind the injunction in Saturday's Freeman and before retiring for the night Saturday made sure to set all their time pieces an hour fast. In this way when they awoke Sunday morning they simply glanced at the clock and when they saw it registered the time for the usual getting up they just got up and that was all there was to it.

All of the church services were well attended even if they started an hour earlier than usual although the clock read the usual church time of 10:30 in the Protestant churches in the city. The Catholic churches, with the exception of St. Joseph's whose services was at the new time, observed services at the old time, but hereafter all services will be held at the new time.

All over the country the new law went into effect with remarkable smoothness. By just forgetting that the clock is an hour fast residents will not become confused but will adjust their affairs to conform with the new time which governs the running of all railroad trains, ferries, street cars and everything else that adds to the comfort of the human race.

Hotel bars, saloons, drinking places within one-quarter of a mile of any voting place, in communities where local option elections are to be held on April 16 next, must remain closed during the hours of such elections.

A ruling to this effect, which sets to rest all speculation upon this question, has been made by Herbert S. Sisson, state commissioner of excise. The ruling is based upon subdivision "c" of section 50 of the liquor tax law. This section provides that on any day of a general or special election, or city election, or town meeting, within one-quarter of a mile of any voting place, while the polls of such election are open, liquor may not be sold or given away.

The courts have held that it applies to a village election where the only question submitted to the voters was one of the appropriation of money.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 1.—The favorable news both from Washington and the war front was responded to with a good demand for stocks at the opening of the stock market today, with advances in order. The supply was so small as to cause general comment, especially in stocks that had until the end of last week been subjected to bear pressure on all displays of strength. Steel Common rose 1/2 to 9/16 and Baldwin one point to 7 1/2. The copper group was stronger, Utah advancing 1/4 to 79 1/2, Anaconda, 1/2 to 63 1/2, and Inspiration one point to 47 1/2. Great Northern Ore was active and rose 1/4 to 24 1/2. Marine Preferred was higher at 91 1/4. Mexican Petroleum gained 3/4 to 93. Distillers Securities and Corn Products were active and strong at fractional advances. There was continued accumulation of Reading, which rose 1/4 to 81 1/2. Canadian Pacific rose 1/4 to 138 1/2 and Union Pacific 1/2 to 120 1/2. General Motors opened 2 points higher at 120.

Reading was the most important feature of the trading in the forenoon with renewed accumulation of that stock carrying its price up over one point to 82 1/2, but many issues showed a receding tendency after the early advances. Steel Common after advancing 1/2 to 90 1/2, reacted to 90 1/2, and Mexican Petroleum, Marine Preferred and Baldwin Locomotive moved in the same way. Sinclair Oil, which made a gain of 3/4 to 28 1/2, later declined to 27 1/2.

There was little vigor shown to the trading in the afternoon, but in some issues in which there was a fair amount of outstanding shorts advanced sharply on covering. American Sugar sold at 101 1/2, a gain of nearly 2 points, and American Telephone rose over one point to 10 1/2. Brooklyn Rapid Transit and New Haven moved up on small transactions.

The market closed quiet today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

HONOR ROLL FOR LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

Honor Flag Will be Displayed by Bond Buyers, With Special Flags to Committees That Excel.

When the records of the first and second Liberty Loan campaigns were compared it was found that Cedarhurst, a little town on Long Island, had made a tremendous jump in number of subscribers and amount subscribed in the second loan. Investigation showed the improvement was not due to a change of conditions but to a change in method of campaign.

In the first loan Cedarhurst had subscribed $175,000 through 350 subscribers. In the second loan the town subscribed $1,200,000 through 3,400 subscribers. This wonderful improvement was due to an honor roll campaign.

This honor roll idea has been adapted for the whole country for the third loan. The service flag idea has been added to it. With these two ideas the powers that be in the third loan hope to do with the whole country what was done at Cedarhurst. They hope to make it the most widespread of the series of loans, with the greatest possible number of people interested in it, and of course with tremendous success from the financial standpoint.

That this can be done seems certain after a review of the conditions at Cedarhurst. In the summer this little Long Island town is made up largely of a colony of wealthy people who have country homes there. But was the first loan that was raised in the summer and Cedarhurst made its highest record when there was most money in the town. When the time for the second loan came around there were a third less people in the town. Except in a few cases they were anything but wealthy. It was just an average American community, with perhaps an unusually large proportion of foreigners, mostly of little means. Under these conditions the number of subscribers to the Liberty Loan was increased to nearly ten times the first number and the amount subscribed was increased in almost as great a proportion.

All that the Liberty Loan people did at Cedarhurst was to make public acknowledgment of subscriptions. Not merely publication of names; that would not have meant much. But they kept ever before the eyes of the public the list of those who had answered the call of the nation, and by giving this list the honor that was due persuaded others to desire a place on the list.

That is what is going to be done in the third Liberty Loan campaign. Those who acknowledge their debt to the nation by aiding it with their money in its hour of need will receive public thanks for their act. Enlistment in the ranks of the bondholders will receive credit just as if it were enlistment in the ranks of the army or navy. The principle that one enlistment is just as necessary to the nation as the other will be driven home.

Those who enlist their money in the government service will be permitted to display a symbol of their service in the form of an honor flag. This honor flag is like the service flag in design as well as in spirit. It is a rectangular flag, with a broad red border surrounding a white field. In this white field are three vertical blue bars, signifying "Third Liberty Loan."

There will be no provision on the flag to show the amount subscribed. It is taken for granted that every American will subscribe to the limit of his ability. The slogan: "This flag in your window will help win the war," is counted upon to point the way to limit subscriptions. The democratic principle that one bond subscribed by a poor man deserves as much credit as a dozen bonds bought by a rich one will give equal credit to all who subscribe.

One bond or fifty will receive the same credit on the public honor roll—the name of the subscriber displayed beneath the caption: "There are the people of our town who are helping to win the war by investing in government bonds of the third Liberty Loan."

This honor roll will be displayed from day to day in the newspapers or on circulars, so that the whole community will know each day who has joined the honor roll.

An appeal to join the roll from motives of local pride will be the second slogan on the honor roll:

"Help our town to win the right to fly this flag."

With the slogan will be displayed a picture of the honor flag. This will be the same symbol awarded to individual subscribers, but the town will not be permitted to fly the flag until it has exceeded the quota of the bond issue assigned to it by the government. The quota is proportioned to the wealth of the town so every community will have an equal chance to win the right to fly the honor flag. The only requirement is that the citizens do their duty by subscribing as much as they should. Community pride is expected to assure this.

As a further honor for communities that especially distinguish themselves by the amount of their subscriptions, a town or city that buys double its quota will be awarded the right to add a blue star to its flag. Every additional hundred percent will mean another star, so that any community that does more than its share will receive full public credit for its accomplishment.

That the Liberty Loan authorities have the right theory as to the power of community pride is shown by the competition already started to win the first honor flag by securing the first complete quota. Dozens of cities have already announced that they plan to win this first flag.

The government will encourage this competition by making the award of the first flag an important official event. It is expected that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo will attend the first ceremony and raise the first honor flag with his own hands.

The cities of the west and south are especially keen about this competition. They realize what an honor it will be to be officially proclaimed the quickest to respond to the nation's call for funds.

These western and southern cities are not blind to the opportunities the competition in subscriptions will give them in local rivalries. But most of all they look upon the opportunity as their one glorious chance to beat New York. They know that Father Knickerbocker's wealth will enable him to roll up a subscription list that will more than hold up his end in the nation-wide loan. They also know, though, that the very richness of New York's resources will make the metropolis slow in getting into its stride. They count on this slowness to enable them to beat the giant through the efficiency of their smaller subscription-gathering organizations.

All of this competition is going to be mighty good for the Third Liberty Loan. With rival cities raising the ante on each other, because they are competing for civic honor, the total of the loan is going to roll up in a manner that ought to show the boys in the trenches that the folks at home are backing them in the war.

And the competition is going to do another thing. It is going to cement individuals into communities, communities into states, and the states into a truer nation.

The honor roll principle will be carried right to the top. All the towns of a state that have won the right to fly the honor flag will have their names permanently recorded on a roll of honor at the state capital. The record of the states will be recorded in the same way on a grand honor roll at the treasury department at Washington. Those states that have achieved one hundred per cent of honor flag towns will lead the list, that future generations may appreciate their accomplishment in the Third Liberty Loan.

This competition in service to the United States, starting with the individual and rising through the civic system, will draw the whole nation closer together. From the individual citizen to the mighty state, the spirit will be the same—the spirit of service to the nation. This spirit of service is expected to put an honor flag in every home in the country. It is expected to make every town and city fight for the right to fly the honor flag for an oversubscribed quota; and it is expected to make every state fight for the honor of leading the honor roll at Washington.

This common spirit of service, inspired by the same principles and symbolized by the same honor flag, has even greater possibilities. The lesson of natural team-work in a game will unite the whole nation as much as universal service in the National Army. It will make the whole nation realize the responsibility of every individual and every community in the United States, as a nation.

The presence of the symbols of this service, the honor flags and the honor rolls, in every nook and corner of the land, will keep this responsibility ever before the public.

They are the badges of honor that can be won by every man, woman and child. The opportunity to win them is greater than for service in the army or navy for there are no strict physical requirements for Liberty Bond service—the bonds are within the reach of all with the will to help the nation. Once won, the honor flags and the names on the rolls of honor are historic mementos that will not be the least of the family treasures when the relics of this war for human liberty are displayed to future generations by those who helped to win it by purchasing Liberty Bonds.

HONOR ROLL FOR LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

Honor Flag Will be Displayed by Bond Buyers, With Special Flags to Committees That Excel.

When the records of the first and second Liberty Loan campaigns were compared it was found that Cedarhurst, a little town on Long Island, had made a tremendous jump in number of subscribers and amount subscribed in the second loan. Investigation showed the improvement was not due to a change of conditions but to a change in method of campaign.

In the first loan Cedarhurst had subscribed $175,000 through 350 subscribers. In the second loan the town subscribed $1,200,000 through 3,490 subscribers. This wonderful improvement was due to an honor roll campaign.

This honor roll idea has been adapted for the whole country for the third loan. The service flag idea has been added to it. With these two ideas the powers that be in the third loan hope to do with the whole country what was done at Cedarhurst. They hope to make it the most widespread of the series of loans, with the greatest possible number of people interested in it, and of course with tremendous success for the financial standpoint.

That this can be done seems certain after a review of the conditions at Cedarhurst. In the summer this little Long Island town is made up largely of a colony of wealthy people who have country homes there. But it was the first loan that was raised in the summer and Cedarhurst made its record when there was most money in the town. When the time for the second loan came around there were a third less people in the town. Except in a few cases they were anything but wealthy. It was just an average American community, with perhaps an unusually large proportion of foreigners, mostly of little means. Under these conditions the number of subscribers to the Liberty Loan was increased to nearly ten times the first number and the amount subscribed was increased in almost as great a proportion.

All that the Liberty Loan people did at Cedarhurst was to make public acknowledgment of subscriptions. Not merely publication of names; that would not have meant much. But they kept ever before the eyes of the public the list of those who had answered the call of the nation, and by giving this list the honor that was due persuaded others to desire a place on the list.

That is what is going to be done in the third Liberty Loan campaign. Those who acknowledge their debt to the nation by aiding it with their money in its hour of need will receive public thanks for their act. Enrollment in the ranks of the bondholders will receive credit just as if it were enlistment in the ranks of the army or navy. The principle that one enlistment is just as necessary to the nation as the other will be driven home.

Those who enlist their money in the government service will be permitted to display a symbol of that service in the form of an honor flag. This honor flag is like the service flag in design as well as in spirit. It is a rectangular flag, with a broad red border surrounding a white field. In this white field are three vertical blue bars, signifying "Third Liberty Loan."

There will be no provision on the flag to show the amount subscribed. It is taken for granted that every American will subscribe to the limit of his ability. The slogan: "This flag in your window will help win the war," is counted upon to point the way to limit subscriptions. The democratic principle that one bond subscribed by a poor man deserves as much credit as a dozen bonds bought by a rich one will give equal credit to all who subscribe.

One bond or fifty will receive the same credit on the public honor roll—the name of the subscriber displayed beneath the caption: "These are the people of our town who are helping to win the war by investing in government bonds of the third Liberty Loan."

This honor roll will be displayed from day to day in the newspapers or on circulars, so that the whole community will know each day who has joined the honor roll.

An appeal to join the roll from motives of local pride will be the second slogan on the honor roll: "Help our town to win the right to fly this flag."

With the slogan will be displayed a picture of the honor flag. This will be the same symbol awarded to individual subscribers, but the town will not be permitted to fly the flag until it has exceeded the quota of the bond issue assigned to it by the government. The quota is proportioned to the wealth of the town so every community will have an equal chance to win the right to fly the honor flag. The only requirement is that the citizens do their duty by subscribing as much as they should. Community pride is expected to assure this.

As a further honor for communities that especially distinguish themselves by the amount of their subscriptions, a town or city that buys double its quota will be awarded the right to add a blue star to its flag. Every additional hundred percent will mean another star, so that any community that does more than its share will receive full public credit for its accomplishment.

That the Liberty Loan authorities have the right theory as to the power of community pride is shown by the competition already started to win the first honor flag by securing the first complete quota. Dozens of cities have already announced that they plan to win this first flag.

The government will encourage this competition by making the award of the first flag an important official event. It is expected that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo will attend the first ceremony and raise the first honor flag with his own hands.

The cities of the west and south are especially keen about this competition. They realize what an honor it will be to be officially proclaimed the quickest to respond to the nation's call for funds.

These western and southern cities are not blind to the opportunities the competition in subscriptions will give them in local rivalries. But most of all they look upon the opportunity as their own glorious chance to beat New York. They know that Father Knickerbocker's wealth will enable him to roll up a subscription list that will more than hold up his end in the nation-wide loan. They also know, though, that the very hugeness of New York's resources will make the metropolis slow in getting into its stride. They count on this slowness to enable them to beat the giant through the efficiency of their smaller subscription-gathering organizations.

All of this competition is going to be mighty good for the Third Liberty Loan. With rival cities raising the ante on each other, because they are competing for civic honor, the total of the loan is going to roll up in a manner that ought to show the boys in the trenches that the folks at home are backing them in the war.

And the competition is going to do another thing. It is going to cement individuals into communities, communities into states, and the states into a truer nation.

The honor roll principle will be carried right to the top. All the towns of a state that have won the right to fly the honor flag will have their names permanently recorded on a roll of honor at the state capitol. The record of the states will be recorded in the same way on a grand honor roll at the treasury department at Washington. Those states that have achieved one hundred percent of honor flag towns will lead the list, that future generations may appreciate their accomplishment in the Third Liberty Loan.

This competition in service to the United States, starting with the individual and rising through the civic system, will draw the whole nation closer together. From the individual citizen to the mighty state, the spirit will be the same—the spirit of service to the nation. This spirit of service is expected to put an honor flag in every home in the country. It is expected to make every town and city fight for the right to fly the honor flag for an oversubscribed quota; and it is expected to make every state fight for the honor of heading the honor roll at Washington.

This common spirit of service, inspired by the same principles and symbolized by the same honor flag, has even greater possibilities. The lesson of natural teamwork in finance will unite the whole nation as much as universal service in the National Army. It will make the whole nation realize the responsibility of every individual and every community in the United States, as a nation.

The presence of the symbols of this service, the honor flags and the honor rolls, in every nook and corner of the land, will keep this responsibility ever before the public.

They are the badges of honor that can be won by every man, woman and child. The opportunity to win them is greater than for service in the army or navy for there are no strict physical requirements for Liberty Bond service—the bonds are within the reach of all with the will to help the nation. Once won, the honor flags and the names on the rolls of honor are historic mementos that will not be the least of the family treasures when the relics of this war for human liberty are displayed to future generations by those who helped to win it by purchasing Liberty Bonds.
